

Sonarax Partners with Mercury Strategies to Help Protect American Workers

Sonarax and Mercury Strategies announce a partnership that will bring accurate contact tracing and universal mobile connectivity through a secure ultrasonic protocol.

Tel Aviv, Israel, October 6th, 2020 -- In the midst of the COVID-19 global pandemic, companies are struggling to provide their employees a safe environment so that they can return to business in a responsible manner.

Sonarax Technologies, a leader in ultrasonic connectivity and communication technology is proud to announce that Mercury Strategies, a leader within legislative advocacy, will be joining their advisory board. The partnership focuses primarily on expanding Sonarax's US footprint by improving existing federal and local contact tracing infrastructure.

The partnership between Sonarax and Mercury Strategies, which was facilitated through SHC Advisors out of the US, will be bringing Sonarax's ultrasonic-based contact tracing solution, SONAR-XE, to the attention of local and federal representatives in the United States to aid states to safely and responsibly reopen their economies.

To supplement these efforts, Sonarax and Mercury Strategies will also be presenting these solutions to leading US national mobile telecommunication service providers and encouraging them to support state governments to implement the ultrasonic solution within their devices.

Through the aid of the telecommunication companies, much of the work related to the implementation of reliable contact tracing will not be put on states who are already stretched too thin supporting the local pandemic response.

"One of the few good things that comes from a period of crisis and disruption is new innovations to help overcome adversity and return life to normal" Said Drew Fields, Partner at Mercury Strategies. "Sonarax has created what we believe is one of the key tools that can help people, companies, and countries contain the spread of this virus via systematic and organized contact tracing. We're excited to help spread the word about SONAR-XE and are looking forward to telling the story of this very dynamic new application."

"We're incredibly excited about this strategic partnership," said Uri Heller, CEO of Sonarax Technologies. "Our mission has always been to use our platform to help protect people around the world. Mercury Strategies are our ideal partners due to their dedication to improving the lives of others along with their strategic relationships. I am honored to be able to use our technology to protect the American people and American businesses."
